Old Business:

1. Henry Landgraff was asked about the deal on the lights. Henry said that he was working on it, he needs the job more than the lights right now and don't get your ass out of joint.
2. Shawn Meyer tried to hi-jack the meeting having a flashback to his presidential grandeur, and was corrected that his business was new business not old business, told to pipedown.
3. Pete Nicka discussed the picnic tables. When will we put them away? We will varnish them in the spring. Joe Jaron the expert in varnish volunteered to do the job in the spring.

New Business:

1. Shawn Meyer raised his hand saying Ooh, ooh, ooh and he wanted to welcome James Hayhurst back to competing with his hurt heal. He also wanted to wish the Skydivericks team good luck at the nationals. We all wished them luck, even though they weren't around to hear us. Luck, Luck Good Luck!
2. Henry Landgraff thought we should start planning a winter trip. A discussion took place. Shawn wanted to compete in the valentine day meet at skydive AZ. A sign up sheet will be posted on the refrigerator.
3. 7:57 pm Pizza arrived. A short intermission took place while pizza and beer was consumed.
4. Ron Sarazen asked about getting a webcam for the DZ. There was some speculation as to if he was related to Brian. We pointed out that we already had a webcam on the website, all he had to do was look.
5. It was announced that the Drummonds will be new neighbors at the DZ. They will be entertaining more, so stop over and make a mess.
